WOODIN AUTHORIZES REOPENING OF BANKS FOR RIGIDLY RESTRICTED TRANSACTIONS

BODY OF CERMACK IS BORNE NORTH FOR FINAL RITES

Chicago, Miami Policemen Form Guard of Honor Over Huge Flower-Covered Casket on Funeral Train.

ASSASSIN ZANGARA UNDER INDICTMENT

Would-Be Slayer of Roosevelt Unmoved by Death of Chicago Chief Executive in Florida.

By HENRY S. WRENN.

ABOARD CERMACK FUNERAL
TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO, March 6.—(P)—The special train bearing Mayor Anton J. Cermak's body back to his beloved Chicago eastern terminus on the first stage of its 40-hour journey.

Over the flower-covered casket, four Chicago and four Miami policemen were a guard of honor.

Mr. Cermak died at 6:57 a. m. in Miami, a victim of Assassin Giuseppe Zangara's bullet intended for President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Relatives of the Chicago chief executive who were at his bedside when death stilled his pain, are accompanying the body northward. Also aboard the train are about 100 close friends and political associates, who either were in Miami when he was shot February 15, or who hurried from Chicago to be at his bedside.

Mayor Redmond L. Gantier, of Miami, also is aboard.

Leaving Miami at 6 p. m., the special train headed northward to Jacksonville, where it was due at 3 a. m. tomorrow. Albany and Columbus, Ga., Birmingham, Ala., Corinth, Miss., Jackson, Tenn., Fulton, Ky., Cairo, and Kankakee, Ill., reaching Chicago at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

At its arrival, the half staff mourned the noted visitor who fell victim to the fanatical Zangara's orgy of shooting. Mayor Gantier proclaimed an hour of mourning between 5 and 6 p. m. when the funeral ceremonies were en route from the mortuary to the railroad station.

Telegrams of sympathy to the family included messages from President Roosevelt, George H. Houston, Governor Shultz of Florida, and Horner of Illinois, and numerous others who occupy high places in the nation's councils.

Messages also were received from Czecho-Slovakia, where Cermak was born nearly 60 years ago, and from where his parents brought him to the United States.

Ten hours after Mr. Cermak's death in Miami Giuseppe Zangara, the asassin, was indicted for first degree murder.

The major died at 6:57 a. m. after 19 days of suffering with the wound and many complications it caused. Almost immediately the Dade County grand jury, which had begun hearing testimony on it, issued the grand jury indictment at 10 p. m.

Circuit Judge Uly O. Thompson announced that Zangara, a naturalized Italian, will be arraigned at noon tomorrow. Conviction carries the death penalty by electrocution.

The assassin, already under 80 years of age, sentenced for firing on Roosevelt, and wounded five other persons, was not brought into the court room today nor did the grand jury question him. He is in the Dade county jail, 22 floors above the street.

South Carolina Capital To Have 11:30 Curfew

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 6.—(P)—Mayor L. B. Owens, of Columbia, today issued a proclamation stating that the curfew law, applicable to all citizens, would be enforced after 11:30 p. m. each night.

His purpose, the mayor said, is to prevent "vagrants and others" from loitering on the streets.

"All citizens should be in their homes by that time," he added.

Columbia, the capital of South Carolina, has a population of more than 50,000.

The general appropriation bill carrying $10,128,000 each for 1934 and 1935 was passed by a vote of 112 to 41 in the Georgia house Monday afternoon after four attempts to divert highway funds had been beaten off.

The bill received nine more votes than the constitutional majority required for passage. The diversion efforts, centering on a plan to take 17 per cent of funds allocated to the highway department, were led by Harris, of Richmond, and Park, of Bibb. A last-minute effort to reduce the board of regents of the university system from an appropriation of $1,500,000 to $1,000,000 was lost 83 to 5.

The governor would be allowed to

Paraguayans Favor War Declaration

ASUNCION, Paraguay, March 6.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies tonight unanimously approved a formal declaration of war against Bolivia in the Gran Chaco border warfare.

The senate previously had given its assent to the proposal.

For months Bolivia and Paraguay have fought over the Gran Chaco, with many casualties on both sides.

The administration of President Ayala, by the legislative action, was authorized to declare war when it deemed such a move feasible.

LEADERS MOURN AT WALSH'S BIER

U. S. Dignitaries Pay Homage to Montanan at State Funeral.

By DON J. KIRKLEY.

WASHINGTON, March 6. (AP)—About a flower-banked bier in the separate church, dignitaries of church and state bade a sorrowing farewell today to the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

Beside the dully gleaming silvered-bronze casket near the vice president's desk in the chamber in which Walsh served 20 years, sat the members of his family, in deep mourning.

Just three feet away, President Roosevelt's hands crossed in his lap and head half-bowed, added his homage to the memory of the quiet Montana legislator whom he had chosen to be his attorney-general.

Clothed with all the dignity of their robes of office, Chief Justice Hughes and associate justices of the supreme court likewise sat in reverent silence.

Business Women Hail Miss Perkin's Selection

RICHMOND, Va., March 6. (AP)—Mrs. Geline MacD. Bowman, of Richmond, national president of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, today extended to President Roosevelt an expression of gratification at his appointment of Miss Frances Perkins, of New York, as secretary of labor.

"I send you the assurance," Mrs. Bowman wrote the new president, "that this organization of 60,000 business and professional women is deeply gratified at your appointment of Miss Frances Perkins as secretary of labor."

Members of congress, the cabinet, the diplomatic corps and the commanders of the military services were present to witness Mrs. Roosevelt's look at the presidential gallery, while hundreds of others less notable watched from the other galleries.

Archbishop Michael J. Curley, of Baltimore, assisted by Bishop John McNamara, of Washington, the auxiliary bishop of Baltimore, and other related and colorful robes of the rank officiated at the obsequies with the impressive ritual of the Roman Catholic church.

Senator Walsh's widow, the former Senora Nieves Perez Chaumont de Truffin, of Havana, to whom the senator was wed but a few days before his death Thursday morning, had to be assisted from her place by her son, Marcial Truffin, and John Walsh, the senator's brother, as the ceremonial ended.

Other members of the family retired immediately to the Walsh apartment here to compose themselves for the long journey to the final resting place in Helena, Mont., which began this afternoon. Mrs. Walsh, the widow, was placed in the doctor's care and did not attempt the journey.

After services in the Catholic cathedral at Helena on Thursday morning, burial will be solemnized in the Resurrection cemetery by the side of the senator's first wife, who died in 1917. Mr. Perkerson was a brother of the

DAN PERKISON, PIONEER, PASSES

82-Year-Old Atlantan Was Member of Prominent Georgia Family.

Dan Perkison, 82, a member of one of the most prominent families in Fulton county and a pioneer citizen of Atlanta, died Monday afternoon at his residence at Perkerson House, Perkerson road, near Sylvan Hills. He had been in failing health for several months.

Mr. Perkison was born and reared in the house in which he died. His parents were pioneers in Atlanta and his family has been instrumental in building and developing the city of Atlanta. For many years Mr. Perkison was engaged in the wholesale grocery business and later was a deputy sheriff of Fulton county. He had been retired for some time.

Funeral services are to be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Harry G. Poole. The Rev. A. E. Silvey will officiate and interment will be in Mount Zion cemetery.

Nephews who will act as pallbearers are: W. T. Perkison, vice president of the First National bank; E. J. Perkison of the county tax collector's office; H. M. Perkison, city tax assessor; Angus Perkison, magazine editor of the Atlanta Journal; Dr. W. L. Gilbert, a member of the board of commissioners of Fulton county; H. W. Gilbert, Fulton county tax assessor.

A meeting of the Fulton county commissioners, scheduled to be held Monday afternoon, was postponed because of Mr. Perkison's death. Mr. Perkison was a brother of the

Derelict Organist, Seeking Shelter, Thrills Fashionable Congregation

MACON, Ga., March 6. (AP)—He, slipping behind summer clouds and swaying into "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," The church was still as death when the last note died away.

Sentimental tunes beloved by Scotchmen came in quick succession and then the music was interrupted.

"If I were in the theater, I'd play the 'Highland Fling,'" the old man said.

And play it he did. The congregation hummed and kept time with their breath.

They gave him coffee and food and then he spied a piano.

They would. But their acceptance was born of the kind sort of tolerance that humor an old person.

They found out differently in a moment. The stranger played a few notes and the crowd gathered around him, begging for more. Dr. W. R. Mackay, pastor of the church, asked him to repeat for the neighborhood.

He did, and when the sermon was finished, he climbed to the choir loft.

He seemed to be in militant mood at first and stirring marches came with a tremolo that jarred the floor.

Then he changed like a torrid sun

GEORGIA B. W. M. U. TO MEET AT FORSYTH

400 Women to Attend Annual Convention at Bessie Tift.

FORSYTH, Ga., March 6.—The annual convention of the Georgia Baptist Women's Missionary Union will open at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Bessie Tift College and continue through Thursday.

Approximately 400 women representing hundreds of missionary societies will be in attendance.

Bessie Tift is active host in the absence of its students on spring holiday vacation.

Mrs. Ben Thompson, Madison, president of the union; Mrs. A. F. McMahon, corresponding secretary missionary; Christian young people's leader; and Mrs. G. L. Tift, in the work arrived Monday afternoon for advance executive conferences.

Mrs. W. J. Cox, of Memphis, south-wide president of the Baptist missionary unions, was scheduled for three addresses but has been kept home on account of the illness of her husband.

Miss Kathleen Mallory will speak twice on the program in Mrs. Cox's place.

Other important speeches will be made by Dr. J. E. Sammons, president of the Bessie Tift convention, and Dr. T. W. Ayers, for 25 years a missionary in China.

Mrs. W. J. Neel, for 20 years president of the organizations now known as the Bessie Tift faculty, will welcome the convention on behalf of the college.

Restricted Banking Statement of Woodin

WASHINGTON, March 6. (AP)

The text of Secretary of the Treasury Woodin's proclamation allowing restricted banking business follows:

"Any banking institution may handle and collect drafts or other documents in connection with the shipment, transportation or delivery of food or feed products, may pay out or permit the withdrawal of such amounts of currency as shall be necessary in the judgment of such banking institution in connection with such shipment, transportation or delivery of food or feed products, provided, however, that no banking institution shall pay out or permit the withdrawal of any gold or gold certificates."

"All banking institutions may allow their customers free access to the safe-deposit boxes and safes rented to such customers."

"All banking institutions may upon request return intact and without re-statement, cash, checks, or other items delivered for deposit or collection which were received after the last closing of business hours and have not been entered on the books of such banking institutions."

"All banking institutions may continue, in accordance with usual practice, to cash checks drawn on the treasuries of the United States, provided that no gold or gold certificates shall be paid out in making change."

Negro's Body Found.

The body of an unidentified negro was discovered late Monday in the underbrush across from the fair grounds between Stewart and Lakewood avenues. County police who made the discovery said the negro seemed to have been dead for several weeks, and they could not ascertain the manner of his death. The body was removed to an undertaking parlor and the coroner notified.

Venue Change Plea Delayed in Scottsboro

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., March 6.—(AP)—Decision on a motion for a change of venue for seven of nine negroes indicted in the "Scottsboro attack case," today was delayed as defense counsel unexpectedly filed a motion to quash the indictment because negroes "were excluded from the grand jury."

The motion to quash was filed by J. S. Thompson, of Birmingham, attorney for the negroes. The attorneys employed by the International Labor Defense to defend the negroes, who contended that exclusion of negroes from the grand jury was unfair to the defendants.

One trial of Resinol Relieved Local Itching And Inflammation

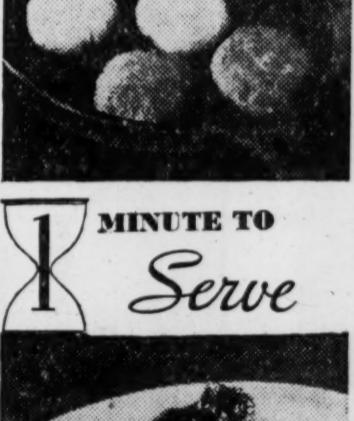

"Sometime ago," says a Resinol user, when suffering from local itching and inflammation due to uric acid, I tried Resinol Ointment. The first application gave me relief and in a short time all the trouble disappeared. Since then, each night I have applied a very little Resinol to these tender parts, as a preventive, with most satisfying results."

800 Chevrolet Dealers Meet Here Today To Prepare Their Spring Campaign Plans

Regional Sales Manager.

C. G. SMITH,
Atlanta Zone Sales Manager.

Chevrolet officials who will take an active part in today's sales meeting at the Erlanger theater. Left to right: L. S. Costley, regional sales manager; C. G. Smith, Atlanta zone sales manager H. B. Hatch, central office, Detroit.

More than 800 Chevrolet dealers and their salesmen of the Atlanta zone are meeting in Atlanta today at 9 o'clock at the Erlanger theater to lay plans for the spring selling campaign of the company. C. G. Smith, Atlanta zone manager, has charge of the meeting. It is the regular annual get-together of Chevrolet dealers and factory officials, and is a program of elaborate spring meetings held by the company with dealers and salesmen all over the United States. Mr. Smith said.

In today's program company officials will outline complete plans for the spring selling season, and regional details will be prepared for the coming months. Mr. Smith explained. He pointed out that Chevrolet is now launching a drive designed to keep the company in its position of leadership, a place it has enjoyed for four out of the past six years. He stated further that registrations for the year to date show a 20 per cent increase over the same period last year.

In today's session, devoted entirely to business discussions, the field organization will hear details of every phase of the operation of a retail merchant's establishment, major in- and out-of-town, including parts and service, selling used cars, a general management of the dealer's business, and exact procedure on how to run a balanced and profitable operation. Mr. Smith stated.

Dealers Attending. Dealers and salesmen in attendance will be drawn from the state of Georgia and western South Carolina. Assisting Mr. Smith in the conduct of the meeting will be Anton Cegnac, assistant zone manager; A. K. Deering, zone sales promotion manager; G. L. Davenport, zone parts and service manager; R. H. Norman, zone accounting manager; W. C. Farmer, zone truck and body manager; E. C. Garrard, zone assistant parts and service manager, and zone representatives Marvin Hoffman, of Atlanta; O. H. Henderson, Rome; J. H. West, Greenville, S. C.; S. W. Gunnison, Macon; R. E. Newsom, Albany; J. M. Collins, Dublin; W. G. Lang, Atlanta; and W. H. Bowen, Augusta.

Mr. Smith stated that he was going into the year 1933 with the dealer organization in the Atlanta zone with more confidence than he has gone in any year in the past, due to the fact that used car inventories have been reduced to a minimum, and the buying public may be expected within the next few weeks in the opinion of Harry Boyd Brown, merchandising manager of the Philco Radio & Television Corporation, who arrived in Atlanta Monday to confer with southern division Philco executives, distributors and dealers.

Mr. Brown, considered one of the foremost advertising and merchandising men in the country, has been in close contact with the economic situation in every section of the country. He addressed a large group of Philco radio dealers at the Henry Grady hotel Monday evening, and discussed thoroughly advertising and merchandising methods that are bringing results today.

"If there is any rapid change," said Mr. Brown, "when rapid turnover is so necessary, the daily newspaper becomes more and more important as an advertising medium. In any locality you have the outlet and on a day's notice, the newspaper can carry the advertising, selling message to those thousands of prospects. Newspapers give you the best of merchandising flexibility for they permit you to get your story to the public on a moment's notice.

"In these days when more advertising should be done, more intensive specialized planned selling should be done. Many businesses are efforts to economize, and are, in fact, quitting business and don't seem to know it. Instead of reorganizing, they are disorganizing. Instead of cultivating markets, developing business more intensively, they are practically withdrawing from those markets, seeking business by effortless methods that years ago they themselves proved to be inefficient."

Roosevelt Resigns Legal Connections

NEW YORK, March 6.—(UPI)—Retirement of Franklin D. Roosevelt as a member of the law firm of Roosevelt & O'Connor was announced today in cards sent out by the concern. The firm said it would continue "general practice of law under the same name."

BODY OF CERMACK IS BORN NORTH FOR FINAL RITES

The indictment contained two counts. One charged that "from a pre-meditated design to effect the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, he did kill and murder Anton J. Cermak, by shooting him with a pistol." The other count alleges that with "pre-meditated design to effect the death of Anton J. Cermak, he did kill and murder him."

Although jailers declined to confirm whether Zangara had been informed about Cermak's death, it was learned from a reliable source the assassin had been told and showed no concern. He was quoted as saying: "Me no care. It was fault of that woman beside me." Zangara is said a woman struck his arm causing him to miss his aim at Mr. Roosevelt.

Cermak died peacefully, his family tearfully gathered at his bedside. Mrs. Floyd Kenley, a daughter, held one of her father's hands. The other was clasped by Vivian Graham, a granddaughter. Cermak was in a coma for many hours before death.

As the full light of day came over the flower-bordered hospital lawn today, Edward F. Keller, chairman of the South Park Board of Chicago, and close friend, stepped to the door of a sun porch where Cermak had lain several days in an oxygen room, and whispered: "He is gone."

CHICAGO PLANS HONORS FOR MARTYRED EXECUTIVE

CHICAGO, March 6.—(P)—A saddened city planned a martyr's funeral for Anton Cegnac tonight as mourners civic leaders worried over selecting a new helmsman for Chicago.

In the massive Chicago stadium, grand rapids coming to the gay colors and blaring music of last summer's political conventions, 30,000 will attend Friday the last rites for Mayor Cermak.

Led by city officials and councilmen, hundreds will march past the railroad station to the home where Cermak's wife died five years ago, and where she and her son, Anton, 2, lay in state in the rotunda of the city hall for 24 hours.

Clerics of three faiths—Methodist minister, a priest and a rabbi—will participate Friday morning in the funeral services in the stadium.

ROOSEVELT ACTS.

Out of the drastic step taken by President Roosevelt in ordering a four-day holiday for the banks of the country will come general realization of two fundamental and encouraging facts—that the bottom has been finally and definitely reached and that the upward climb will be under a leader of dauntless courage and inspired vision.

Scarcely had President Roosevelt's promise of prompt remedial action, contained in his epochal inaugural address, been received by the people before the new cabinet had been sworn in and the new chief executive had issued proclamations striking at the very root of our national unrest.

The palliative measures which have been attempted to cure the nation of its ills have not done what was expected of them.

A major operation was needed to remove the cancer of financial insecurity and uncertainty, and the swiftness with which the president ordered the hospitalization of our financial system, while laying plans to bring it back to a sound and healthy condition, has had an immediate result in increasing, rather than decreasing, public confidence.

The people of the United States, from the highest financier to the humblest wage earner, have been living in a fool's paradise and not until a new start is made on a basis of business and private life can the distress of the present be expected to disappear.

The mob hysteria which skyrocketed property values in Florida during the boom of 1924-25 was no greater than that which carried the production of raw materials and manufactured commodities throughout the country to unheard-of and unsupportable totals and which led to a frenzy of spending, waste and extravagance by governments, business and people.

As the collapse of the Florida
boom punctured the fictitious land values in that state, making necessary a general and drastic revaluation of all property, so the stock market crash of 1929 put an end to the era of false standards throughout the nation.

Now the nation must do what Florida was wise enough to do and put the knife to the cancerous growth of unreal standards and valuations which have choked the life blood of the nation's prosperity.

That operation President Roosevelt promised in his epochal inaugural address, and he moved swiftly and surely towards its consummation when, 24 hours later, he issued proclamations calling the congress together in special session and suspending financial operations throughout the country pending the adoption of necessary regulations and legislation to insure that the promised "new deal" be launched on a sound and impregnable basis.

The incisiveness with which President Roosevelt spoke and the speed and firmness with which the new administration moved to check the fast-growing wave of national hysteria and to bring order out of chaos, has given life to new hope and new confidence.

The sudden change from an aimless, vacillating and impotent direction of the national ship of state to the fast-moving rush of events under a bold, able and courageous administration has had the effect of electrifying the public.

This aroused hope and confidence is reflected in the cheerful attitude of the people towards the inconveniences caused by the bank moratorium, by the universal belief that after four years of suffering, a direct and powerful attack will be made direct at the root of the nation's problems, and by the practical certainty that with the reopening of the financial institutions and the markets of the country both commodity and security prices will begin a steady climb.

New writers should feel encouraged. Magazines wouldn't print such silly stories if they were offered better ones.

A GALLANT FIGHT LOST.

Seldom has the nation watched more sympathetically and more hopefully a fight for life than the battle against death waged for 17 days by Mayor Anton Cermak, of Chicago, who died Monday morning in a Miami hospital.

Laid low by an assassin's bullet intended for President-elect Roosevelt, the chief executive of the country's second city waged a gallant fight against recurring complications, only to lose when gun-grave put in its appearance.

From one end of the country to the other millions daily watched as the strong will to live enabled this outstanding public servant to successfully overcome first the shock of the wound, and then pneumonia, peritonitis and heart trouble.

As great a loss as is the death of Mayor Cermak, not only to Chicago but to the country, as a result of the improvement under his regime of conditions in the nation's second largest city, it will not be invaluable if it crystallizes public opinion to the necessity for the eradication of radicals and radicalism in the United States.

Men and women of the ilk of Zangara—communists, anarchists and bolshviks—are permitted to openly flaunt their seditious doctrines.
They have flocked to this country by the thousands during the past ten years and here, under the guise of "free speech," are permitted to plot against the government of the country which has given them haven from the stern punishment accorded them in their native countries.

Atlanta has received widespread criticism, even from conservative sources, for the "harsh" treatment accorded the communists who attempted some two years ago to bring from their haunts in other states the seditious doctrines which they preach.

If the same stern and relentless pursuit and punishment had been meted out to these undesirables in other cities, our institutions would be safer and in all probability Chicago and the nation would not have had to bear the loss of this valuable public servant.

HITLER'S VICTORY.

As was expected, the Hitler cabinet was given overwhelming in-endorsement at the general elections held in Germany on Sunday.

The result was a foregone conclusion, because all opposition newspapers had been suspended during the campaign, public addresses by those opposed to the Nazi government prohibited and the use of the radio denied to them. Without a method to present arguments, and under the watchful eye of the Nazi troop leaders, they had no chance to win at the polls.

The ratification of the "nationalist revolution" policy of Hitler undoubtedly means not only the early wiping out of communism in Germany but the death of the democratic form of government which has existed since immediately after the World War.

Two probabilities are ahead: the assumption of full powers by Hitler as dictator, with President Von Hindenburg as a figurehead, or a restoration of the monarchy, with perhaps one of the sons of the former kaiser as the nominal head but with Hitler as the real ruling head—thus—as Mussolini.

The election means greater stability in the German government and iron control of the masses. It will tend to benefit world conditions. It is possible that Hitler's opposition to the provisions of the Versailles treaty and his open antagonism of France may more than overcome this beneficial effect in the immediate future; but, all things considered, fascist control of Germany will stabilize and strengthen eco-

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Italy Looking Ahead.

That Signor Mussolini foresees the end of the present economic crisis is evidenced by the fact that he is proceeding to clear out all industries in the country which are not both fit and suitable for being used on a paying basis even when normal times do return. For years nothing was heard of Italian industry. Mussolini realized that there was nothing doing on the world's industrial markets, and consequently focused his attention on agriculture, turning barren regions into productive soil, building roads and establishing modern centers of rural life.

The long years of slump revealed that many industries had been set up in Italy since the war which in reality had no power of resistance, no life-force and which consequently crumpled at the first sign of trouble.

The first new industrial measure Mussolini has taken "in view of the coming era of rehabilitation" is a law which prohibits the installation of new factories without approval of the state. Secondly he has set up an "Institute for Economic Reconstruction" and established a central bank

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 7, 1933.

ROOSEVELT ACTS.

Out of the drastic step taken by President Roosevelt in ordering a four-day holiday for the banks of the country will come general realization of two fundamental and encouraging facts—that the bottom
has been finally and definitely
reached and that the upward climb
will be under a leader of dauntless
courage and inspired vision.

Scarcely had President Roosevelt's promise of prompt remedial action, contained in his epochal inaugural address, been received by the people before the new cabinet
had been sworn in and the new
chief executive had issued proclamations striking at the very root of our national unrest.

The palliative measures which have been attempted to cure the
nation of its ills have not done what
was expected of them.

A major operation was needed to remove the cancer of financial insecurity and uncertainty, and the
swiftness with which the president
ordered the hospitalization of our financial system, while laying plans
to bring it back to a sound and
healthy condition, has had an immediate result in increasing, rather than decreasing, public confidence.

The people of the United States,
from the highest financier to the
humblest wage earner, have been living in a fool's paradise and not until a new start is made on a basis of business and private life
can the distress of the present be expected to disappear.

The mob hysteria which sky-
rocketed property values in Florida
during the boom of 1924-25 was no
greater than that which carried the production of raw materials and
manufactured commodities throughout the country to unheard-of and unsupportable totals and which led to a frenzy of spending, waste and extravagance by governments, business and people.

As the collapse of the Florida
boom punctured the fictitious land
values in that state, making necessary a general and drastic revalua-
tion of all property, so the stock market crash of 1929 put an end to the era of false standards throughout the nation.

Now the nation must do what Florida was wise enough to do and
put the knife to the cancerous
growth of unreal standards and valuations which have choked the life
blood of the nation's prosperity.

That operation President Roosevelt promised in his epochal inaugural address, and he moved swiftly
and surely towards its consummation when, 24 hours later, he issued
proclamations calling the congress
together in special session and
suspending financial operations
throughout the country pending the adoption of necessary regulations
and legislation to insure that the
promised "new deal" be launched
on a sound and impregnable basis.

The incisiveness with which President Roosevelt spoke and the speed
and firmness with which the new administration moved to check the
fast-growing wave of national hysteria and to bring order out of chaos, has given life to new hope
and new confidence.

The sudden change from an aim-
less, vacillating and impotent direction of the national ship of state to the fast-moving rush of
events under a bold, able and courageous administration has had the effect of electrifying the public.

This aroused hope and confidence
is reflected in the cheerful attitude
of the people towards the inconveniences caused by the bank moratorium, by the universal belief that
after four years of suffering, a direct and powerful attack will be made direct at the root of the nation's problems, and by the practical certainty that with the reopening of the financial institutions and
the markets of the country both
commodity and security prices will begin a steady climb.

Still, the naughty are useful. If all people were good, nobody could enjoy feeling superior.

There may be merit in the suggestion that western states secede.
That trick once made cotton fetch a dollar a pound.

Fishy nationalism seems very wicked to the nations that yearn to help Uncle Sam finish his pie.

The Easy Way To Become A Good Driver Is To Learn From the One Who Has No Wrecks

By Robert Quillen

The mistakes of the ignorant are pardonable, but there is no excuse for those who do a thing the wrong way when they know the right way.

When America began to arm for the war against Germany, there was nobody on this side of the Atlantic who knew the mechanics of modern warfare.

To train the draft army in methods of offense and defense used in our previous wars would have been unspeakably stupid.

Here was a problem, but the solution was too obvious to be overlooked. Experienced officers of the allied armies were invited to come over and teach and recruit their new troops.

So simple! And yet our country has forgotten how easily that problem was solved, and now is groping in darkness to find the solution.

The problem is to restore faith in banks.

The foundation of all banking is confidence. Without confidence of its depositors, no bank in America could survive a fortnight in good times or bad. Given the complete confidence of its depositors, no honestly managed bank would fail.

Lawmakers, eager to restore faith in banks, are devising many schemes to make them safe.

One of these schemes would guarantee deposits—which means, in simple terms, using the taxpayer's money to pay the cost of stupidity and crookedness.

Two states have tried it, and neither has yet finished paying for the experiment.

Other suggested plans may be good or evil. No man can know until they are tried. And the trying of new plans is playing with dynamite.

What, then, can we do?

Well, if thieves raid your hen roost and don't trouble your neighbor uses?

Canada's banks have survived. England has suffered more than America, yet her banks have stood like Gibraltar.

Noted Surgeons To Speak Before Congress Today

Three noted surgeons who read papers at Monday's session of the Southeastern Surgical Congress meeting at the Biltmore hotel. Left to right, Dr. William E. Lower, neurologist, of Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. Carl A. Hedblom, of Chicago, a chest surgeon and head of the department of surgery in the University of Illinois medical school, and Dr. George Crile, of Cleveland, noted authority on the thyroid gland.

The second day's session of the Southeastern Surgical Congress, composed of leading surgeons of the southeast, will open this morning at 8 o'clock at the Biltmore hotel. At the morning and afternoon sessions, papers will be read by distinguished visiting surgeons from all parts of the country, and a clinic will be conducted. Tonight at 8 o'clock a banquet will be held at the hotel. The congress will end Wednesday.

On the program today are Dr. Thomas G. Orr, Kansas City; Dr. Hubert A. Royster, Raleigh, N. C.; Dr. James G. Brown, St. Louis; Dr. C. Jeff Miller, New Orleans; Dr. Irvin Abell, Louisville, Ky.; Dr. Curtis Rosser, Dallas; Dr. Vilmar P. Blair, St. Louis; Dr. Dean Lewis, Ballarat, Australia; Dr. John C. Ladd, Charleston; Dr. Russell Lyday, Greensboro, N. C.; Dr. C. W. Roberts, Atlanta; Dr. W. D. Haggard, Nashville, and Dr. W. R. Houston, Augusta. The last two will speak at the banquet.

The auxiliary will give a bridge luncheon at the Capital City Country Club to the visiting women.

Monday's session was distinguished by two talks by Dr. George Crile, of Cleveland, considered the leading authority on the thyroid gland, who spoke at the morning session on "The Peptic Ulcer." In the afternoon he conducted a "dry" clinic at which patients were used as illustrations.

Other speakers Monday were Dr. Chevalier Jackson, of Philadelphia; Dr. John F. Erdmann, of New York; Dr. Carl A. Hedblom, of Chicago; Dr. W. D. Haggard, of Nashville; Dr. William E. Lower, of Cleveland; Dr. Cecil Righy, of Spartanburg, and Dr. Rudolph Matas, of New York. Charts and slides were used to illustrate the papers.

Dr. Hedblom showed with charts and slides the progress of surgery in tuberculosis. A business meeting at 8 o'clock concluded Monday's session of the congress. The visiting ladies will be taken on an automobile tour of local points, including Stone mountain.

JOSEPH Q. BURTON, 51,
DIES ON VACATION TRIP

Joseph Q. Burton, 51, prominent Atlantan, died Sunday afternoon at the Victoria hotel in Palma on the island of Majorca, in the Balearic Islands. Word was received here by A. Hugh Burton, son-in-law of Mr. Burton. He contracted pneumonia and died within a few days.

Mrs. Burton was one of a well-known Opelika, Ala., family.

With Mrs. Burton, who was the former Miss Mary Bancier, of Atlanta, and Colonel and Mrs. Settle, of Charleston, S. C., Mr. Burton sailed from New York January 10. They had been in Palma for about a month.

Besides his wife, Mr. Burton is survived by his parents, of Opelika, and several sisters. Mrs. Burton is the sister of A. Hugh and E. A. Bancier, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Burton formerly resided in Muncie, Ind., and the body was taken there at 6 o'clock Monday night for funeral services and interment, with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

Mrs. Burton was active in a number of women's organizations here. She had resided in Atlanta for five years.

Surviving are her husband; a daughter, Evadine Rhamy; two sons, Richard and Donald Rhamy; her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Settle, of Columbia, S. C.; and Mrs. E. E. Frazee, of Anderson, Ind., and Mrs. Leah Perkins, of Muncie, Ind., and two brothers, Russell and Howard Settle, both of Muncie.

ATLANTA FRUIT DEALER
IS BADLY HURT IN CRASH

MACON, Ga., March 6.—(AP)—Hale Coler, 35, Atlanta fruit dealer, was seriously injured tonight when his car escaped control on the wet pavement and overturned several miles north of Macon.

Mr. Coler, who was alone driving to Macon, was unable to give a detailed explanation of the accident. A passenger picked him up and brought him here, where he was admitted to a hospital. Physicians found he had fractured rib, cuts and abrasions on the head, and possible internal injuries.

A brother, Nat Coler, lives here.

Hale Coler, whose home is on a R. F. D. route outside Atlanta, travels between Atlanta and Florida as a fruit buyer and seerer.

TWO MORE SUSPECTS
IDENTIFIED IN HOLDUPS.

Two more suspects were identified Monday by recent holdup victims, as Atlanta police continued their round-up of suspicious characters.

Walter Shields, 22, of 413 Johnson street, was identified by B. Golden, grocer, of 94 Hunnicut street, as one of three negroes who robbed him of $80 on the night of February 18, and Johannie Lockett, 20, colored, of 219

Strange Story of the Man Who Killed Canadian Goose

"This present situation," said Mr. Charley Jordan, the Monticello bird dog fancier, "reminds me very much of the 1907 situation, and I do not see why they do not solve it as they did then."

"How was that?" asked one of his listeners.

"Well," said Mr. Jordan, "in 1907 we had bank holidays and we had scrip and we had jigsaw puzzles. We have all those now but there is just one thing missing. It was in the troublesome times of 1907 that the cigarette people began to put pictures in their packages. These were very lovely pictures of ball players and actresses and the like."

"The people got so interested in collecting these pictures and putting the jigsaw puzzles together that they didn't need any scrip to speak of and before they knew it things were going along in good shape again."

"And I also recall 1907, because that was the year I killed that goose, the largest Canadian goose that was ever killed. And I did it with a rifle."

"With a rifle!" said one of his listeners incredulously.

"Yes, with a rifle," said Mr. Jordan. "And not only that but the shot was fired at midnight on a very, very black night."

"At midnight!" echoed one of his listeners incredulously.

"At midnight," said Mr. Jordan. "And with the longest shooting rifle that was ever invented. Would you care to hear about it?"

"We would," said his listeners, settling themselves down.

ON THE LONE PRAIRIE.

"My shooting partner, Mr. Lewis Pope, and I were in Canada with some bird dogs. We had entered them in the prairie chicken trials up there and had very good luck."

"There was an old fellow around there who claimed he was a gun expert and he kept worrying us about looking at his guns and rifles. He was especially interested in rifles and I was not because all I care about is a shotgun during the bird season."

"But this fellow kept arguing with me and finally I told him I would take the rifle and give it a try. 'Do not point it toward any place where there is someone who may get hurt within the range of 15 or 20 miles or even more,' he said, 'because this rifle will shoot farther than any rifle in the world. In fact, I do not even know how far the rifle will shoot, although I would not like to be the Man on the Moon and have this rifle pointed at me.'

"Well, I took the rifle but the fellow seemed a little balmy and so I thought nothing of it at all. We went right along with the trials. I put the rifle in a corner of the room where Mr. Pope and I were stopping, and thought no more of it, as we were too busy with the trials to try the rifle at that time."

OUT INTO THE NIGHT.

"And then one night we were sound asleep, only to be awakened by a terrible noise. The fellow with whom we were staying came running into the room and said that a large flock of Canadian geese were flying overhead. He also said that we could grab a gun and see if we could get a shot."

"So I reached out in the dark and grabbed where my gun was and ran out into the yard with the rest of them. When we got out there it was pitch dark and we couldn't see a thing. But we could hear the geese. But it was evident they were flying very high. They had gone on up and we could barely hear them honking up above."

"It was then I realized that instead of my shotgun I grabbed this old fellow's rifle. I was so disgusted that I raised it up and fired into the air. But nothing happened."

"I thought," said one of his listeners, "you said you killed a goose and now you say nothing happened."

"Just a minute," said Mr. Jordan; "nothing happened at all. We stood around and waited but the geese flew away out of hearing."

"This fellow with whom we were boarding told us that no one knew just how high the geese fly. He said it was not unusual for them to fly so high they could not be seen. In fact, a very warm argument developed and it was soon established that no one knew just how high a Canadian goose could fly."

"Well, we all went back to bed and to sleep and it wasn't long before the alarm clock rang and woke us for the trip to where the trials were being run."

THE LONG-RANGE RIFLE.

"There were few of the modern improvements on the prairies then," said Mr. Jordan. "We washed at a wash pan which was on a bench outside the kitchen."

"I had just stepped out there and was washing my face very briskly with the cold water when there was a thump right behind me."

"I looked around and right there beside me was a goose. That long-range rifle had hit him and he was so high up that it had taken him five hours to fall to the ground."

"There was a restless stirring in the room."

"I suppose you have that rifle," said one of his listeners.

"Well, sir," said Charley Jordan, "I put the rifle with my shotgun and on the way out to the trials the rifle fell off and broke. I gave it to the little old man to fix but he was so angry he never came back. I had neglected to find out where he lived and couldn't locate him. But I always figured he was the fellow who invented the long-range gun with which Paris was shelled during the war."

"At any rate, that is how I killed a Canadian goose in 1907 and that is why I never forget that we had scrip and jigsaw puzzles and pictures from the cigarette packages. And I think that is all we need. I would like to swap a picture of Babe Ruth for one of Bob Grove."

"There was even more of a restless stir and his listeners began to look at one another."

"I see you seem to be in doubt," he said. "If you will come to Monticello with me I will show you a feather from the very goose that I killed with the long-range rifle."

BLETHEN, GOFF ARE SIGNED UP; ROLLINGS NEXT

Deal on for Susko and Sturdy; Rookie Catcher Is Promising.

Rollings Likely To Sign Today

By JIMMY JONES.

MOBILE, March 6.—There was something transacted in the camp of the Atlanta Crackers tonight when Climax Blethen, the old moose hunter, and Bobby Goff, second baseman, signed contracts. Russell (Red) Rollings, third baseman, is expected to sign tomorrow.

Other significant news was that Pete Susko, Birmingham first baseman, and Sturdy are being considered. Manager Charlie Moore is sure of getting one of them.

By Jimmy Jones.

MOBILE, March 6.—Freddie Neisler, 22 years old, and literally brimming over with self-confidence, is one of the most promising rookies in the Atlanta Crackers' camp. And one of the reasons, no doubt, is attributable to the excellent advice which two former Atlanta heroes gave him before reporting here.

"Go down and hustle all you can and the fans will like you," That was the parting tip which Johnny Brock, a former Cracker catcher, gave to the youngster when he left St. Louis, his home city, to come to Mobile. Brock, now the proprietor of a card and novelty shop in St. Louis, took a great interest in Neisler and was one of those who recommended the young receiver to Manager Charlie Moore.

Joe Guyon, an idol of Atlanta sportdom, especially the football public, told him pretty much the same thing. Guyon had Neisler under his tutelage for two seasons at Anniston, Ala., in the old Palmetto league, and at Birmingham, N. C., in 1932.

And is Neisler heeding these words of wisdom? You should see him plugging into the grand stand and the dugout to catch foul balls, keeping up an endless running fire of chatter behind the plate, and more important still, hitting the ball on the nose.

Right now, this strapping lad who stands six feet two inches and weighs 195 pounds, is in such hot to win the Crackers' rookie receiving job. It would be very hard for Ralph Butler to beat him out, even if reported tomorrow. For Charlie Moore, who knows his catchers, is already sold on Neisler's hustling spirit. "I heard a lot about him and Brock that I was crazy to pay ball here," Neisler said when queried about the channels which brought him here. The insight into his past career showed that always the thought of following in the footsteps of these two men influenced his improvement.

Reddell thus far has been a very rocky road for the boy. Last summer he was released at Asheville when he was hitting well over .300. It came just before the Louisville club withdrew its support of the team. So, he was puzzled by the tough break he got here.

Neisler believes that he was destined to become the Atlanta catcher eventually, not first-string the very first season, perhaps, but a catcher, nevertheless.

Connie Mack has Eric McNair, of Meridian, Miss., and Dibble Williams, of Greenwood, Ark., among his infielders. McNair is a shortstop, while Williams plays either short or second base.

Baxter Jordan, of Salisbury, N. Boulevard Park Woman's Club will hold an all-day sewing beginning at 1 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. M. Williams at 735 Elkmont drive.

Tri Delta Alliance.

Atlanta Tri Delta Alliance is invited to attend the installation of new members of the chapter, the ceremony to be held at Belvoir, 1000 Peachtree street, Sunday, March 12. Members interested in making the trip may secure additional information by telephoning Mrs. Louis Jersey, at Hemlock 6739.

Today we have an old, old pattern. It has been called Sunshine and Shadow. You'll see why, in just a moment. But first, want to give credit to Mrs. Davis, of Missouri, who sent in this pattern.

Allow a week to ten days for delivery. Address Aunt Martha, care No. C258, 15 cents. Order by mail.

THE BUTTERFLY QUILT.

Butterflies are always popular, but most of them are applique. Here is a patchwork one, made from the same materials, and the result is particularly attractive when made from orange and yellow, with a gray pattern. You will love this quilt. Pattern No. C258, 15 cents. Order by mail.

TARZAN THE UNTAMED No. 224

"Speaking in Russian, which my French maid did not understand, he unfolded his scheme. I listened, amazed by his breath-taking words . . . In the weeks following this midnight meeting, I came to know Prince Alexis well. Brilliant and charming, we had much in common, until I discovered his REAL self.

"For underneath the prince's suave exterior (I later learned his title was assumed) hid an altogether different person in whose heart flamed but one consuming purpose. He was the most valiant secret agent of the Reds. For that cause he tried to win my needed aid. Then, before it happened, I knew that war, in its latest horror, was imminent. I decided upon a mad, dangerous and thrilling game.

Mrs. Regenstein Is Hostess.

Miss Rowena Wyche, whose marriage to Joseph Atkinson Jr. will be an interesting social event of Saturday, March 11, was central figure at luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Joseph Regenstein Jr. at Davison-Paxon's. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a bowl of fruit, flowers, a bunch of yellow roses and the bride's shower was showered with a number of attractive gifts.

The guests included Miss Wyche, Catherine Bodenheimer, Susie Crull, Georgia Alison, Sara Martin, Dorothy Goodrich, Virginia Templeton, Dorothy Cleveland, Dorothy Williams, Laurie Caaney and Mesdames Harry Molky, Fred Smith, Sheldon Lamar, Lewis Howie and L. P. Wyche.

Dr. Cooper Celebrates 57th Anniversary.

Dr. M. A. Cooper celebrated on Sunday his fifth anniversary as pastor of the West End Baptist church, and was presented a handsome watch as a token of love and esteem from members of his church. He is the fifth pastor of the West End church, his predecessors having been Dr. S. Y. Jameson, Dr. Tom O'Kelly, Dr. John Purcell, Dr. D. Warren May, Dr. Sey, all of whom are dead, except Dr. Sey, who is pastor of the First Baptist church, of Anderson, S. C.

Dr. Cooper came to his present pastorate from Central City, Ky., and has accomplished outstanding work since taking up his duties as pastor of West End Baptist church. The church has been strengthened and the membership has increased so that the church is one of the largest Baptist churches in the city.

There is so much at stake as in this instance, it is folly worse compounded for a woman to permit a mere sentiment about respect for old age to restrain her from having a plain talk with the boarder, a plain talk that is backed up with a specific threat to put her out unless she immediately gets out of the way. She has her chance at love and happiness and now she must give way to the next generation and the next that is just now having its chance. She wouldn't have the right to interfere in the lives of her own children, certainly she hasn't the right to interfere with the lives of distant men.

I don't want to get old if my present in any home would be as odious as here. I am here, but I am not prettier than I used to be. We don't quarrel. He is often impatient with my children, but that is to be expected and I over look it. I am trying to live up to my marriage vows. But here is the difficulty, we have nothing with our mutual relative of my husband who prides herself on being a great pacifier but in reality she is a great trouble maker. She seems to think that paying board gives her the right to interfere in all our domestic affairs. Because she tells me that I think she has become a chronic grumbler and busybody. She constantly complains of my children to my husband and intimates that the married children come to set us for what they can take home with them.
